

This Buddhist monk uses modern technology, including a laptop that can connect him with colleagues on the other side of the globe.