

This young woman sits at the wheel of her car with all of her possessions inside and her children in the backseat. These conditions do not make for effective parenting.