

FIGURE 2.16 Functional Magnetic Resonance Imaging (fMRI)

In these fMRI scans, the amount of color reflects the amount of activity seen in a particular brain area. The activity is related to the energy demands needed to perform a particular task.

Source: © Zephyry/Science Source.

