

In a classic study, rat pups raised by actively nurturing mothers versus more passive mothers differed in epigenetic factors.