

An EEG "cap" that holds the electrodes is placed over the subject's head.