

There is a movement in the training of mental health professionals to emphasize cultural competence.