

Stress and adversity during childhood and adolescence can have a greater impact than during adulthood.