

Arief Juwono/Moment/Getty Images

Some fear reactions appear to be built into our system; for example, infants of about nine months of age will cry if a stranger takes them from their mothers.