

In Gloucester, Massachusetts, drug addicts who turn themselves in at a police station will not be charged but instead are helped toward recovery.