

People with borderline personality disorder may cut themselves or do other acts of self-harm.