

Try This Now

When you take an existing variable and replace it with a new variable (Recode into Same Variables), the old values disappear. Why would some researchers recommend using only Recode into Different Variables?